

A Stress-Free Relocation Remedy

On Average, Clients Save $1,000 per Relocation

DISCARD AND DONATE

HOW IT WORKS

Coordinator reaches out to transferee to explain the services, process and benefits

Professional organizer comes to transferee's home to help sort, declutter and prepare for movers

The organizer arranges for items to be donated or discarded

Transferees receive a donation receipt for donated items

Protect the environment and save money while improving the employee experience

When faced with a relocation, employees reluctantly resign themselves to an overwhelming task: sorting, dispensing unwanted items, packing up belongings and trying to keep their home organized. How much transferees choose to keep can have a big impact on how expensive it is to relocate them. Suddath's Discard and Donate program helps employees relocating from the US and Canada sort, organize and remove un-needed items, saving them the added stress and reducing your company's shipment costs.

TRANSFEEE BENEFITS

- Simplifies the donation process for transferees and eliminates last minute stress during a relocation
- Eliminates clutter and allows for better staging of the home
- Helps employees and their families get settled quicker in their new location

CLIENT BENEFITS

- Reduces shipment size by approximately 10 percent, saving your company money on shipping expenses as well as the gross-up on taxable moving expenses
- Properly discards or donates items providing measurable environmental savings, which can be reported back to you for inclusion in your organization's green initiatives
- Allows employee to focus on their job instead of organizing before and after a relocation
